00:45:30 Susan Meredith: I think it's pretty clear that deservability is important. The question is how to get there if you aren't owning it fully?

00:46:37 Jackie Ambrow, Positively-HUB.com: That was Marianne Williamson, quoted by Nelson Mandela, from her book A Return to Love:

“Our deepest fear is not that we are inadequate. Our deepest fear is that we are powerful beyond measure. It is our light, not our darkness that most frightens us. We ask ourselves, Who am I to be brilliant, gorgeous, talented, fabulous? Actually, who are you not to be? You are a child of God. Your playing small does not serve the world. There is nothing enlightened about shrinking so that other people won't feel insecure around you. We are all meant to shine, as children do. We were born to make manifest the glory of God that is within us. It's not just in some of us; it's in everyone. And as we let our own light shine, we unconsciously give other people permission to do the same. As we are liberated from our own fear, our presence automatically liberates others.”

01:57:08 Joan Michelson: Western society conditions us that, when money issues come up, we are being "responsible" if we aren't showing that we are struggling to make things better. It's like a badge of "proving" we are trying. Or like we aren't "allowed" to be happy until this money issues is handled. If we're happy when we're struggling financially, then we are judged as not doing enough.

Kappas' Mental Bank Program: you pay yourself in your Mental Bank Ledger for what you did during the day that moves you toward your goal and then you subtract real world income when it comes in. Teaches your subconscious mind the ebb and flow and helps you adjust to "living on the interest" rather than a constantly only rising bank balance.
